Dr. Wynekoop Still Maintains Her Innocence

Despite Verdict Of Jury
Which Found Her Guilty
Of Rheta's Death

FACES REMAINDER OF LIFE IN PRISON

Appeal For New Trial To Be Heard Prior To Formal Sentence

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Mar. 7.—Found guilty in the weird murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, on an operating table, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop today faced with staid calm the prospect of spending the rest of her ebbing life in prison.

A jury that required only ten minutes to determine her guilt last night decreed that the aged and sickly Dr. Wynekoop serve 25 years in the penitentiary in atonement.
Two ballots were required, the first standing 11 to 1 for conviction.
The verdict was returned in the crowded, tense criminal court room of Judge Harry Miller after the jury deliberated for one hour and 35 minutes. Two jurors had held out for the death penalty.

Maintains Innocence
Her only comment today, uttered in a tired, weak voice from her cot in the county jail, was:
"I have suffered for a long time,
I am not guilty."

Dr. Wynekoop, her pallid features accentuated by a black ensemble, calmly heard the verdict pronounced without the flicker of an eyelash or a quiver of her jutting chin. No trace of emotion crossed her countenance as she reclined in a wheel chair beside her counsel.
Dr. Wynekoop is suffering from acute arterio-sclerosis, the ailment which brought her first trial to a sudden close.

Rheta Gardner Wynekoop, aesthetic 23 year old wife of Dr. Wynekoop's favorite son, Earle, was found

PA NEW OBSERVES

Young Pa New observed Tuesday afternoon that the clock on top of the First Christian church on the diamond is running again.

The detour on route 422 at Portersville is the only new detour in western Pennsylvania listed on the Detour Bulletin of the Pennsylvania state highway system for the period ending March 5.

Early this morning Miss Jennie Basile of Moravia street extension reported seeing a robin in her backyard. This is the first bird of this kind reported in the Sheep Hill district this year.

From the start already made on the wall which will be erected along the sidewalk on the Croton avenue hill, the stone fence is going to be a real work of art. It should also be substantial enough to protect motiorists from going over the hill.

"A complete success" has been the way Boy Scout and relief officials have described the scouts' collection of needed bedding, clothing and household furnishings for the unfortunate. The plan now is to have the canvass work completed in every community of the county by March 5.

Rivers At Pittsburgh Are Falling Rapidly

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Mar. 7.—Houseboat dwellers and rivermen breathed a sigh of relief and went back to their homes and jobs here today as the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers fell rapidly toward normal after rising slightly above flood stage yesterday.

Patches of ice were still coming down the upper levels of the Allegheny but the gigantic flocks of yesterday were far down the Ohio and rapidly melting.

Today the stage at the junction of the two rivers tributaries here was 21.4, a drop of 4.4 feet from the high level of 25.8 feet of yesterday when waters went about a foot over the bank. The quick drop in the flood waters caught many boatman unaware with the result that their craft which had been moored too tightly were left stranded on banks as the river receded.

Weatherman W. S. Brotzman said today the gushing waters that followed in the wake of the ice gorges as they careened down the river yesterday levelled off after reaching the Ohio and that no flood stages were reported in the Ohio river valley.

President Faces Greatest Battle On Tariff Plans

Confronts Real Task In Ability To Control Congress On Issue

MUCH OPPOSITION
IN MANY SOURCES

President Asking Congress
To Grant Him Wide Powers To Alter Tariffs

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—President Roosevelt has put his ability to control congress to its severest test in his request for authority to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements with foreign governments and raise or lower existing tariff rates up to 50 percent.

A survey of congressional sentiment since the message was transmitted disclosed this today beyond any doubt.

Wide Disaffection
The Republicans are ready to oppose it almost to a man. They believe that Mr. Roosevelt has at last given them an issue upon which they can go to bat in the oncoming congressional campaign. And there is wide disaffection in Democratic ranks, too, although just how vocal remains to be seen. It will require severe White House pressure, however, to hold a number of Democrats in line.

Industries that feel they might be affected by lowered tariff rates are already making known their opposition to members of congress. In the heavily industrialized eastern states there is strong opposition.

Two Lines of Opposition
The opposition as it develops will take two lines: (1) that it is unconstitutional for congress to delegate its authority to the executive, and Wachter, night clerk at a hotel here, walking all day and was cold. He left 20 minutes later.

Throughout the visit he kept one

Puerto Rican officials and cheering crowds greeted Mrs. Roosevelt as she alighted from the plane.
Ceremonies here were brief and informal, as Mrs. Roosevelt plans to her visit to the Virgin Islands.

here today bank officials and police in the middle west waited with ap-

Banks Guarded
Ninety-six banks in and about

Extra Guards On Dillinger Cost About $144 Daily

(International News Service)
CROWN POINT, Ind., Mar. 7.—It cost Lake County $144 a day to guard John Dillinger for each of the 34 days he was held in custody here.

This amounted to $4,996 for the period from Jan. 29 to March 3.
William Schroeder, president of the county council who has to approve all bills, announced today.

Dillinger was brought here Jan. 29 after a spectacular flight in an airplane from Tucson, Arizona, where he and his gang were rounded up, and he escaped March 3.

The cost was mostly for extra guards, the fellows whom Dillinger subdued with a wooden pistol and locked up in the jail.

Mine Accident Victims May Die

Condition Of Rokoski And Lucas Reported Serious
At Hospital Today

TAKE X-RAYS TO DETERMINE HURTS

With the full extent of their injuries not yet determined, the condition of Mike Rokoski, of Hubbard Road, Youngstown, and Tony Lucas, of East Brook, was still serious at the Jameson Memorial hospital, it was stated by the attending surgeon. The two were injured in an accident at the Stivers Mine on the Youngstown road, at noon Tuesday.

Rokoski has not regained consciousness, and is the worst injured of the two. Lucas is still in a semiconscious condition, but is also believed to be badly hurt.

X-Ray pictures were taken this morning to determine the full extent of the injuries. Some hope is entertained that Lucas will pull through, but Rokoski is lingering at the point of death.

The men were hurt when a mine car toppled into the shaft and hurled down on top of them as they were ascending in the cage. William Huston and James Crowl, both of this city, who were also in the cage, escaped serious injury. Crowl having a bruise on the head.

Huston and Crowl assisted in bringing their companions to the surface going back down into the shaft and fastening the life belts which had been brought to the scene by Fire Chief H. Clare Stockman, after they had climbed to safety following the accident.

Woman Swindler Is Back In Jail

Mrs. Anna McElroy, 55, Mother Of 18 Children, In Clutches Of Law Again

MULCTED WOMEN
OUT OF SAVINGS

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 7.—A soft-spoken, dignified mother of 18 children, termed by local police "the greatest confidence artist in America", was back in a jail cell today, awaiting arraignment on an accusation familiar to her—swindling.

Released six months ago from the house of correction at Holmesburg, Pa., Mrs. Anna McElroy, 55, this time was accused of having mulcted three women out of their life savings, approximately $1100.

In this latest episode of her checkered career the self-styled "heirress to a million dollar estate in Germany" shared the misfortune of falling afoul of the law with the man she married after a romance within Holmesburg's walls.
Edward McElroy, a guard at the house of correction where he first met the prisoner who was later to become his wife, also occupied a cell facing the same charges of conspiracy, fraudulent conversion and obtaining money under false pretenses. He denied complicity in the alleged swindles.

McElroy, formerly known as Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Beswick, was arrested on complaint of three women and told authorities they had advanced money to her after she had promised them a 100 per cent return and a 50 per cent "bonus".

The complainants are Miss Mary Fogarty, 63, Mrs. Anna Roberts, and Mrs. Mabel Clark at whose home the McElroys boarded.

Miss Fogarty claimed to have been the heaviest loser, declaring she had turned over $775 in cash

Grand Jury To Make Decision After Hearing

Croton Viaduct Project Is Being Aired In Testimony Today

COUNTY OFFICIALS ARE HEARD FIRST

Hearing Being Conducted
Before Public In Court Room No. 2

Whether or not the county of Lawrence will build a viaduct across the Neshamock river between the end of Crawford avenue and Lincoln avenue is being considered today by the March grand jury. A petition of the county commissioners asking for permission to build the viaduct is being heard, with testimony both for and against the idea being given.

At the noon recess the indications were that the hearing would last all day, with a fair possibility that it might run into tomorrow. The hearing is in court room two, with about one hundred present this morning.
Late Tuesday afternoon Judge R.
L. Hildebrand instructed the jury that if any of the members had signed any petitions for or against the viaduct, they consider whether or not they could give the project an impartial hearing and if they could-not, they should withdraw. One juror, D. S. Williams of Lincoln avenue, arose at the opening of the hearing and said that he had signed a petition against the viaduct a year ago, but that the situation was now changed in that part of the money would be given to the county.
He said that he could give the matter an impartial hearing and stayed on. There are 20 jurors sitting.

Navy Building Bill Is Passed

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—The administration's $570,000,000 naval construction bill will be sent back to the House today after the Senate disposes of a motion to reconsider its passage.

The bill, authorizing construction of from 96 to 102 new warships over a five-year period, was passed by the Senate, 65 to 18. Reconsideration of this action was asked by Senator Dill (D) of Washington, because the Senate failed to act on his amendment proposing to make Pacific coast shipyards eligible for construction of some of the new warships.

The leaders were ready to reconsider the bill's enactment, adopt Dill's amendment and possibly one by Senator King (D) of Utah, re-enact the bill and send it to the House. Prompt House approval of Senate amendments was promised.

BLAME STORM FOR FATAL PLANE CRASH

Four Meet Death As Plane Falls

Three Passengers And Pilot Included In List Of Fatalities

PLANE DEPARTED FROM ST. LOUIS

(International News Service)
PETERSBURG, Ill., Mar. 7.—A sudden snowstorm that left the wings of a Chicago-bound American Airways plane coated with ice today was blamed for the deaths of three passengers and the pilot who were killed when the air liner plunged to earth.

All four met instant death as the ten-passenger plane crashed to earth on a farm four miles north of here. The dead:

Dr. G. H. Waetjen, New York City.
Walter M. Bell, Columbus, O.
Pilot Walter Hallgren, Chicago.

Hugh Sexton, aviation editor of a Chicago newspaper.

The plane took off from St. Louis and 50 miles southwest of here ran into a blinding snowstorm.

In a radio message to the Chicago airport Pilot Hallgren, a veteran with 8,000 flying hours, notified his office that ice was forming on the wing surfaces and that visibility, due to the storm, was only an eighth of a mile.

Airway officials immediately instructed him in a return message to turn back for St. Louis. The order apparently was never received, for Hallgren failed to answer.

WOMAN SWINDLER IS BACK IN JAIL

and a $500 bond to Mrs. McElroy.

Detectives charged that Mrs. McElroy used the same old device, having told each of the women that she is the principal heiress to a million-dollar estate in Germany, but that she needed finances with which to carry on litigation in order to receive her inheritance.

Mrs. McElroy, then known as Mrs. Beswick, first attained the public limelight ten years ago when during her trial for swindling she testified that she had been leading a double life, dividing her time between two husbands. She admitted on the witness stand that she had lived alternately in the home of her first husband and father of her children, Samuel E. Beswick, and in the suburban Fox Chase home of William C. Martin, banker.

Muchly Married

Testimony was given to the effect that the then Mrs. Beswick had received $50,000 from Martin on the representation that she needed the funds to settle a large estate. Mrs. Beswick was given a two-year sentence. After serving her term the woman was again arrested and sentenced to another two years' imprisonment.

A third prison sentence of five years for swindling was imposed on Mrs. Beswick in 1930. She was released a half year ago after serving nearly three years, and was married to McElroy in Media, Pa., last September, according to police.

DILLINGER SEARCH IN CHICAGO CONTINUES

Falls, S. D., decided, after viewing photographs of Dillinger that they were mistaken in their first identification of the gangster as one of the six gunmen who looted the institution yesterday of $46,000. C. R. Clarke, president, said Dillinger was not among the bandits who, armed with machine guns, cowed several hundred citizens and fled toward Minnesota.

Dillinger Vanishes

Raiding police squads, armed for a death battle and instructed to shoot and kill the desperado, meanwhile had uncovered no clew to Dillinger's whereabouts. He had apparently vanished here following his sensational escape with a toy wooden pistol from the Crown Point, Ind., county jail.

Federal agents joined the search today when it was definitely decided that Dillinger in his flight had violated the Lindbergh kidnapping law and Dyer automobile theft law when he raced across the Indiana-Illinois line in the automobile of Sheriff Lillian Holley with a deputy sheriff hostage.

Chicken Thieves Are Indicted Here

Two Are Serving Time In Butler Jail And One Sentenced At Youngstown

TRUE BILL FOUND IN SHOOTING CASE

Driver Indicted For Failing To Render Assistance And Show License

Myron P. Purdy, Roy C. Rowe and Myrt Cox, alleged chicken thieves, were indicted by the grand jury today when a true bill was returned against them, although they are not now in the custody of the Lawrence county authorities. The three are said to live in Youngstown, from which point they extended their operations into Lawrence and Butler counties.

Detective A. C. Sharp, Leslie, is now serving a sentence for larceny in Youngstown. Purdy and Rowe are serving a year's sentence in Butler. In this county they are alleged to have stolen chickens from Rudy J. Byler of Wilmington township, turkeys from Mary J. Watson of the same township, and chickens from C. M. Rohrbach of Hickory township. They were indicted here in order that they may be brought to Lawrence county for trial when their terms have expired.

Other Cases

Joe Natale was indicted for aggravated assault and battery on Dominick Minutello of Edinburg. It is claimed that Minutello was shot by Natale, as he was returning from a hunting trip. Natale, who had a 22 caliber rifle, claims that he was shooting at a mark and did not see Minutello.

A true bill was found against Joe Drapko, who is charged with stealing $12.25 from Helen Hopkys.

Edward Shaffer was indicted for malicious mischief. It is claimed that he broke up a cash register in the restaurant of Ben Seaborn on Wampum avenue, Ellwood City.

A true bill was also found against Frank Dambrosia of R. D. 4, Portersville, whom it is claimed failed to render assistance, give his address, or exhibit his automobile driving license following an accident.

S. Muskie was indicted for driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. The alleged offense was on Beaver avenue, Ellwood City.

Other true bills were: Lyle P. Wood, breaking and entering the J. J. Dean Wholesale grocery.

John Evans, breaking and entering the Premium Supply company store at Ellwood City.

In the case of Paul Winick, charged with aggravated assault and battery with an automobile, the grand jury found not a true bill on the first count, but a true bill on the second and third counts, the former charging assault and battery and the latter assault. It was claimed that he ran into the car of Sarah E. Wallace.

In the case of Sarah E. Wallace in which she was charged with aggravated assault and battery by Paul Winick, not a true bill was returned and the costs placed on Winick. The accident out of which grew the suits, occurred at the intersection of Wallace avenue and Blaine streets.

In the case of Alice A. Kiratru, charged with assault and battery on Peter K. Santis, not a true bill was returned and the costs placed on Santis.

There are about twenty-five cases yet to go before the grand jury, but deliberations were suspended, while the jury hears evidence on the Croton avenue viaduct proposition.

in charge of the hearing but is taking no part in the examination of witnesses. County Solicitor William McElwee, Jr., represents the petitioners, who are the county commissioners, and Attorney Frank A. Hoyer is appearing for the residents of the Croton district. Attorneys Orville Brown and Robert L. Wallace are appearing for the citizens who are protesting the viaduct.

Mr. McElwee opened the hearing by explaining to the jury how such a hearing is authorized and read sections of the county code of 1929. He then called County Engineer Thomas A. Gilkey, who has drawn plans for the viaduct. Gilkey estimated the cost of the structure would be $224,200, not including the engineer's seven per cent fee, which would approximate $16,000, and the cost of the approaches and damages. The cost, he said, would be divided $120,965 for labor and $103,235 for materials. All but the steel and form lumber are manufactured in Lawrence county, he said, and could be used.

Upon cross examination Mr. Brown brought out the fact that there would be a seven per cent grade on the viaduct due to the difference in levels on the two sides of the Neshannock creek. Mr. Gilkey showed the jury a picture of the bridge, and also a map of New Castle showing what routes would be used to the bridge and the saving of time in getting through the city.

County Commissioner P. O. Elder was next called. He stated that the commissioners have asked the federal government for a $250,000 loan to cover the cost of the viaduct and estimated that this would be more than enough to pay for it. The outright grant of money would be $57,000, he said.

He said that the bonded indebtedness now prevailing would be materially reduced each year and that the payments due in 1935 would be $176,731, running down to $62,650.18. The viaduct would add a payment of $17,300 for 1935 and this would be down to $15,826 by 1939, Mr. Elder said. The increase in millage due to the viaduct would mean one-fifth of a mill.

Conner Called.

Commissioner A. Elmer Conner was called and said that when the relief authorities insisted that the county provide employment for the needy or suffer a cut in relief moneys, the commissioners took up projected work that could be done. These he listed as the Edinburg viaduct first, then the court house, then the Croton viaduct, then the Powder Mill road and 2.2 miles of road in Wayne township.

The Edinburg viaduct idea was discarded because it is on a state highway and is a state responsibility.

The court house was taken up and preliminary plans drawn, but said that the Powder Mill road was hanging fire yet as is the Wayne township road because some people wanted damages. On cross examination he admitted there had been a controversy over which route the Powder Mill road would take.

Asked how much money the county had spent for materials for CWA projects he said that they had given some tools they had. "You mean those second hand tools from the coal field," asked Brown and the answer was "yes."

Good Proposition

Mr. Conner said that he considered the Croton viaduct a good venture because of the fact that it would facilitate traffic through the city from east and north and vice versa.

Dr. W. L. Bissell, superintendent of the Jameson Memorial hospital, was called and said that their figures showed one patient out of three came from the area east of the creek and that a viaduct would enable ambulances to get to and from the hospital with greater ease and comfort. He said that speed was not an all important element but that it was a factor.

County Commissioner Frank R. Woods was called and said he thought the viaduct was a good idea at this time in that the government would grant 30 per cent of the cost, that it would provide employment to many people and would add but little to the cost per taxpayer. On a property assessed at $2500 the cost would be but fifty cents, he said.

"Do you think it would be more advantageous at this time to aid in keeping taxpayers secure in their homes by not increasing taxes, or to build the viaduct," asked Mr. Wallace. "It is always a good thing to add to the security of the citizens," answered Mr. Woods.

School Children Benefitted

Principal Frank L. Orth of the Senior high school, was the last witness called before the noon recess. He said that a survey of the school showed that 401 students would use the viaduct if it were built.

"The high school is overcrowded just now, isn't it?" asked Mr. Brown. Mr. Orth said it was and Brown then asked him where the logical place would be to build a new senior high school.

It followed that the school would be built east of the Neshannock," he asked. Mr. Orth refused to hazard any opinion on the location of any new senior high school.

Each witness is sworn by the foreman of the Grand Jury, William Smith, who also passes upon objections to testimony. Thus far he has ruled that anything of value to the jury should be included and has permitted the witnesses to answer all questions.

If the hearing is finished today, the grand jury will likely get a decision on it some time Thursday.

PA NEW OBSERVES

desk for the public, and he'll be there to aid income tax filers until March 15, the date the papers are due.

Now that the West Washington street bridge is open to traffic and everyone knows it is open, why not take down the "Bridge Is Closed" signs at the Greenwood avenue intersection?

Frank Stevens, Hazleroot avenue and North Mercer street, returned to New Castle yesterday and said that the water in the vicinity of Cambridge Springs was within a foot of overflowing both sides of the highway. The section he referred to was north of the town. He said that in French creek the land is flooded, but around Clarksville the Shenango river has not flooded on account of the Pymatung dam.

Putting in a plate glass window, 76 by 172 inches, is no small task, but when one knows his onions about such matters, the job is made to look easy. Workmen installed such a piece in the Marvin Electric company show window this morning. The glass was blown out by the storm Monday evening.

This bridge construction at Rose Point, which compels motorists going east to detour thru Harlansburg, has caused many a driver to fume, temporarily, according to word that PA New hears. It is said that many New Castle drivers, forgetting the detour, have driven out the usual way only to find their way blocked. It means driving back a good distance to strike Route 422 or the Perry highway again.

(2) that the proposed action puts too much power in the hands of an individual. A whole industry, it is pointed out, might be crippled by cutting a tariff rate in half.

The administration's answer to this, of course, is that in the exercise of his power the president would not be guided by national self-interest, and that he would be as discretionary in tinkering with tariff rates as he was, for example, with his powers to inflate the currency under the Thomas amendment.

Bitter Battle Looms

This answer, however, does not satisfy opponents of the measure. And a bitter battle lies ahead. The Republicans privately assert that congress will be here all summer before the tariff measure is passed. Mr. Roosevelt put his plea for tariff-making powers on the ground it was necessary to reverse the tariff trade.

This, too, is unconvincing to opponents of the plan.

They point out that the great bulk of American exports now consist of the things that the world cannot buy elsewhere and have to come to the United States to get—short staple cotton, tobacco, oil, etc., with the world engaged in commercial warfare for market outlets in manufactured goods, they doubt that American foreign trade can be expanded save in a few limited directions.

The elderly physician was charged by the state with having killed Rheta to get $12,000 insurance which she held on the girl's life and to free her son from his unhappy marriage.

Judge Miller will hear a defense appeal for a new trial on March 24. If the pleas is denied Dr. Wynekoop will then be sentenced to the prison at Menard, Ill., where she must remain for at least eight years before becoming eligible for parole.

Now 63, Dr. Wynekoop would be 71 years old before the parole board could consider her case.

"It's just 25 years more than a life sentence," exclaimed George Fairbro, brother-in-law of the doctor. "I think she will die in less than a year."

CURBING THE DISHONEST

CREDIT men have a good word to say for the honesty of Americans, and nobody is in a better position to know. With credit statistics in their hands from virtually every city and town in the United States, they estimate that only one charge account of every 6,800 is bad and that 98 per cent of the people are honest.

This trustworthiness of the public explains why 70 per cent of all retail business in the larger cities can be done through charge accounts with safety to the merchant. The mere fact that so much business is transacted on the credit basis is proof of the inherent honesty of the great majority of the people.

It is not to be presumed that the dishonest two per cent all prey upon business at the expense of the honest 98 per cent, although it is true that those who do not pay their bills rob those who do, not the merchant, since losses are generally included in the business overhead.

Spread of the credit system throughout the nation in the form of charge accounts and installment plans has resulted in the creation of a large army of credit men and a credit association nation-wide in its scope. These credit associations, agencies and men are working for the protection of the honest 98 per cent by preventing the dishonest two per cent from getting credit. That they have succeeded is obvious from the fact that while two persons of every hundred are dishonest in this respect, there is only one bad charge account in every 6,800.

PAYLESS DAYS FOR POSTAL WORKERS

Consistency is not much of a jewel in Washington. On the same day that the authorities declare that we must have shorter working hours with higher pay if the NRA is to succeed, the Postmaster General announces that postal employees throughout the country must take a payless day once each month for the next four months.

The new NRA policy may or may not be wise, but why should the Federal Government compel the private employer to do that which it refuses to do itself, quite correctly asks the Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE PRESIDENT'S PHONE IS BUSY

The Mississippi Negro who called President Roosevelt on the telephone and obtained his promise of help in the matter of an annoying mortgage is a go-getter who deserves White House aid. Such an effective short cut to the Presidential ear would not even be considered by more complicated minds oppressed by knowledge of Presidential secretaries and fear of publicity charges.

The President will be commended for heeding the plaint of Sylvester Harris. But if the precedent is followed by many others who have woes, Mr. Roosevelt will have to install a permanent "busy" signal or get an unlisted telephone.

DO WOMEN EXCEL MEN IN STAMINA?

Can it be true that the weaker sex is the stronger, and boastful, roistering man, on the average, physically inferior to the quiet little woman who does the home chores? If the unemotional statistics covering 300,000 cases, compiled by the Mayo Clinic, prove anything it is that the women can take it better than the men.

When indignant males cite Jim Lonsos, Jack Dempsey, Jimmy Fox and "Red" Grange to show the strength and endurance of their sex, the Mayos calmly quote from their chart that men are more frequently victims of lung, kidney, digestive tract, brain and functional disorders than are women.

Apparently the time has come when men should investigate at once the merits of literary lectures, afternoon bridge parties, lunches of a chocolate éclair and ice cream soda, high heels and backless Tuxedos. If this way lies the path to vigor, they must set forth bravely.

SCOPE OF THE PRESS

Will Rogers, philosopher in cap and bells, nightly confesses to his audiences that all he knows is "what he sees in the papers"—and he is representative of a tremendous army.

The newspaper is the source of information and knowledge for that vast multitude which limits its daily reading to one or more papers. And the great majority of those who do not limit their reading to the newspapers turn elsewhere only for entertainment, depending upon their paper to keep them informed on the economic, political, scientific and social state of the nation and world.

In any issue of a representative American newspaper one will find reports from the scientists, a survey of economic and political conditions, a graphic picture of all strata of contemporary society, a summary of current history and a mirror of the wit and humor of the times. To the seeing the modern newspaper is a magic crystal in which the gaze can see the world pass before his eyes.

Into each newspaper edition is condensed hundreds of current events without geographical limitation, the essential portions of the writings and utterances of the day, and the latest addition of the "sum of human knowledge."

The tree of knowledge has thorns on it.

The dogs of war would keep quiet if diplomats weren't so catty.

Many a man who passes you with his auto is behind with his payments.

It is sometimes disappointing to discover that a hero is only human after all.

All things are relative, and the weather you whine about would make some other community boast.

If he says he is willing to swing a pick for a living, make sure he doesn't mean a toothpick.

Mothers shouldn't worry when people kiss the baby on the mouth. Germs couldn't live on anybody that mean.

The chances are the fellow who looks like 30 cents has the 30 cents and the fellow who looks like millions doesn't.

The Ohio editor who referred to "Marion Talley, the 900-acre farm girl," hadn't seen her latest photo, which shows she has discarded some poundage.

DO SOMETHING 'FOOLISH'

Are you weary and fed up and discouraged?
Are you stuck in a rut, disgusted with routine?
Has life gone colorless and tasteless?

Do you want to be happy again? (This sounds like an advertisement for something—and it is!) Then break your routine. Do something foolish, something you can't defend, something no sober-sensible person would dream of doing. Some trivial thing, some bigger thing, anything out of ordinary.

If you've been eating at home too much, then eat out. Go somewhere and sit down and scan a menu and pick out a meal that wasn't cooked in your own kitchen. Linger over it and enjoy it.

Leave home for a night or a week end. Stay at a hotel over night, if you can afford it. Take a trip into the country. Do something you've always wanted to do.

Buy something you can't quite afford. You'll be sorry. Be like that hungry man who spent half of his money for hyacinths, for his soul, and the rest for bread, for his stomach. Buy that something you thought you couldn't afford and you find it was just what you had to have. A picture. A chair. A book. A hat. A coat.

Remember when the family cow used to kick over the milk bucket and hike rebelliously for the barnyard? Remember when the sedate old horse that everybody trusted ran scandalously away down the home town main street—and almost laughed at you afterwards? Remember how Rover used to disappear for days and return with a big grin on his face?

Every dog, every cat, every cow, every horse, every human being needs to do something eccentric, something "undefensible" once in a while and is the happier for it. We are not machines. We are living creatures. We are domesticated but not quite tamed. There's a wicked gleam somewhere in the mildest eye. There's extravagance in the most miserly heart. There are laughter wrinkles in the sourest face. Sugar in lemons. Sap in the leafless tree. Life in the old dog yet.

If you would save your life, throw a bit of it away.

LENT

A time of self-denial and of praise
A time of calmer thought
And some slight abdication of the ways
For selfish pleasure wrought.

For forty days of self a little less
And of our own desires,
And more concern about the inner dress,
The soul of man requires.

For forty days to prove the spirit's strength
By shunning pleasing things:
Fasting the flesh for forty days full length
For the sweet pride this brings.

Is this enough God's favor to deserve?
Is this the aim of Lent?
Should man his own soul struggle to preserve,
And with that be content?

Or rather should he not for forty days
More helpful try to be,
And following the Master, seek his praise
By serving as did He?

Suppose for forty days in doing good
Our strength and time were spent Seeking His dream of human brotherhood.
Would that be keeping Lent?

LAZY?—SNAP OUT OF IT!

Instead of being ashamed of it, you readily admit you are lazy. It pleases you to have someone else do your work, doesn't it?

You spend more time planning and scheming how to avoid doing your allotment of work than you do thinking of the duties and how best to perform them.

In every possible way you avoid or divide responsibility.

In your home you are particularly lazy, letting your father and mother do many things for you that you should attend to for yourself.

If a girl, you curl up in an easy chair and read while your mother does the housework.

Or you remain in bed until a late hour making it necessary for your mother to get two breakfasts—the earlier one for the family and yours when you come down yawning and untidy.

If a boy, you try to manage so that your father will get the work done around the premises because he has too much pride to let things look so slack.

Do you have pride—you do not. You have no permanent duties of any kind to perform but your father is working to make a living and you won't help to make it easier for him when he returns.

Shame on you.
"I hear you've been feeling badly for the last week or so?"

The World At A Glance

Two Books Aid President
Words Of Lindbergh, Sr.
A Girl Writes Of Coal Miners

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 7.—Two books have unexpectedly come to the aid of the Roosevelt administration.

One is the book by the late Charles A. Lindbergh—the flyer's father. It originally was suppressed by government agents in the spring of 1918. That was when President Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy. (The world has moved considerably in 16 years.)

The second book is by a young girl—Lauren Gillfillan. It is called "I Went to Pit College." When Miss Gillfillan was graduated from Smith college in 1931 she tried to get a newspaper job in New York. She could not. A publisher dared her to go to the coal fields to record conditions. She did. She was as a member of a coal miner's family.

The book of the late Congressman Lindbergh ranks him as much of a hero in the economic world as his son became in the aviation world. It states truths so clearly, so simply that it acts as a guide to those who would follow or lead President Roosevelt.

Miss Gillfillan's book backs up the Rooseveltians that either we shall follow the moderate social advances of the president or we shall come under communism.

LINDBERGH, SR.
Lindbergh, Sr., who spoke against war, was hounded from place to place, as he was scheduled to speak. He was running for governor of Minnesota on the Farmers' Non-Partisan League ticket. That did not prevent him from literally being forced out of the state, into Iowa, to speak such words that we now read in a re-issue of his book, "What Happens to You After a War."

What's so "terrible" did the elder Lindbergh say?

Upon the practice of this rule, justice in the social world has been undetermined, and civilization itself is being destroyed."

That book was termed treasonable—only 16 years ago. If Lindbergh, Sr., had not been so popular a figure, he probably would have been sentenced to 10 years at hard labor in a federal prison, for saying the words that are in many cases much less than a president, himself, now says.

Deny Edsel Ford Is Being Guarded Against Kidnapers

Kidnap Threat Was Received By Son Of Manufacturer In Detroit

IS VISITING HIS FATHER IN FLORIDA

(International News Service)
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Mar. 7.—A report that Edsel Ford, son of Henry Ford, had left here hastily with a machine gun guard following receipt of a kidnap threat, was denied here today by city and county authorities and at the hotel where the manufacturer had been vacationing.

Ford, according to the report, received a kidnap threat in Detroit shortly before coming here February 18. Believing the kidnapers had followed him, the automobile manufacturer, the unconfirmed report said, asked protection of the sheriff's office and the chief of police and departed hurriedly on a fishing trip to the Florida Keys.

No special guards
"We have had no request from Mr. Ford for a special guard," Chief Deputy J. C. Brown of the Dade county sheriff's office said today. Sheriff D. C. Coleman was out of town.

"I know nothing about it," Chief of Police Robert T. Teaney said. "We have furnished no guard."

"There have been no special guards on the hotel grounds," W. S. Abel, manager of the hotel where Ford stopped, said. "We have a staff of regular guards at the hotel, yes, but these are maintained at all times. As far as I know Mr. Ford had no special guard. He made no request for protection."

Ford left here several days ago. At the hotel it was said he had gone to visit his father in Fort Myers.

Italian Church In Philadelphia Damaged By Fire

Spectacular Four-Alarm Fire Routs Entire Neighborhood; Many Suffer Injuries

ITALIAN PRIEST SAVES SACRAMENT

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 7.—A spectacular four-alarm fire early today destroyed the Church of St. Mary Magdalen De Pazzi, oldest Italian Catholic edifice in Philadelphia. Hundreds of scantily-dressed residents to the street when the flames endangered the entire neighborhood and caused minor injuries to a score of firemen.

Several priests and ten nuns fled their quarters in nearby buildings, while 80 Italian orphan girls in an orphanage to the rear of the church were aroused from sleep and rescued by police and firemen from the threatening blaze.

Priest Is Hero
Father Joseph Pugliese, who recently effected the release of a girl from kidnapers, proved himself a hero in today's conflagration. Brushing police and firemen aside, the brave priest dashed into the flame-engulfed church to save the blessed sacrament. He succeeded in fighting his way through smoke and fire to the altar and emerged a few moments later with his clothes singed.

Ambulances were hastened to the scene and used as temporary field hospitals for treatment of minor injuries as the fire-fighters poured buckets of water on the blazing church. Meanwhile, police went from door to door, routing out all the residents of the district.

Believe "Aerobot" Will Revolutionize Army Air Fighting

Airplanes Can Be Sent Up To Bomb Cities Without Any Human Pilots

Small "Aerobot" Can Operate Plane Just Like Human Hand; Eliminates Danger

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 7.—Proclaimed a powerful force for safety in aviation in peace, and a mighty engine of destruction in war, the "Aerobot" on Tuesday successfully passed exacting tests that proved this mechanical man can guide an airplane better than the best pilot. Invented by George De Beeson and developed by the Kormann research laboratories in Glendale, Cal., the "Aerobot" is a simple looking one foot square box inside of which are complicated levers that hold an airplane on a true course, bank it, or raise or lower the craft as the air condition may demand.

Great Development.

"This is one of the greatest developments in the history of aviation," said Art Goebel, famous speed pilot, who has conducted the tests with the "Aerobot." In war, explained F. A. Kormann and C. R. Morrison the "Aerobot" can be guided from the ground by radio, enabling an army to send up a plane loaded with explosives and without a person aboard, and dump the bombs over any designated city. In peace, the "Aerobot" it is hoped, will do away with a great percentage of all accidents—particularly those caused by the human element. The "Aerobot," according to Kormann, is an absolute safety factor in "blind flying." Using the little machine, an airplane can be set on its course, its elevation maintained, and a true path through the skies held without any attention from the pilot.

$21,000,000

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—In order to prove a department of agriculture ruling erroneous, Senator Robert D. Carey (R) of Wyoming, today served a roast pork luncheon at the Capitol to senators, friends and newspaper men.

The pork came from two fifty-pound pigs. Carey's guests found it delicious. Then, he explained that the government had purchased 5,104,984 pigs, weighing under 20 pounds each, at a cost of $21,000,000 and destroyed them because "they could not be processed economically and were not edible."

He charged this was "unjustified waste."

Express Opinions As To Motive For Crime

(International News Service)

LEEDS, England, Mar. 7.—Eli Daiches, prominent advertising man who was slain Saturday in Chicago, was killed because his assassins desired to prevent him from identifying the perpetrators of a previous attack upon him, in the opinion of relatives living here.

"Our theory," said Dr. Salis Daiches, a brother, today, "is that these men were afraid of arrest and identification by Eli, so they took the first opportunity of killing him." Dr. Daiches lives here with his father, Rabbi Israel H. Daiches.

County Commissioner P. O. Elder this morning recalled that he went to the west coast of the United States just 45 years ago to-day to engage in the lumber business. He bought a ticket from H. G. Blackburn, agent of the Pennsylvania railroad from New Castle to Spokane, Wash., for $55. He left from the West Side station, which he says looks pretty much the same as it did 45 years ago. Elder, who was a boy of 18 at the time, made good in the west as a lumber jack. It was there that he learned the rudiments of the business which he followed for many years after coming back home. At one time he was an extensive operator of lumber camps in West Virginia and other southern points. He has also cut a large amount of timber in this section, and is probably the best judge of timber in New Castle to-day.

FATHER AND SON RECEIVE GREAT RESULTS FROM WORLD'S TONIC

Suffered From Catarrh Of The Stomach And Head For Fifteen Years

Never in the history of this city has a Prescribing been so widely discussed as World's Tonic. That it must be a preparation of unusual merit is proved by the enormous demand now shown all over the state. In a recent interview with the World's Tonic representative, W. D. Terry, 781-6th St., Ambridge, Pa., said:

"I have suffered from Catarrh of the Stomach, which has given me no end of worry and cost a great deal of time and money."

"It was told all sorts of lies were due to catarrh of the bowels and stomach, and I know my liver was affected too. I can tell you this inflammation of the stomach was painful. I gradually lost in weight and strength, and kept getting worse until I decided to try World's Tonic. World's Tonic has been a blessing to me as I have like myself again. I am feeling better every day and I am now having my son use it for his catarrh and blood. He is showing improvement."

Catarrh affects almost every organ of the body and will finally produce a condition known as systemic catarrh. The circulation becomes poor and all the organs suffer. The patient has a generally despondent feeling. Sometimes catarrh resembles chronic malaria and again resembles nervous prostration. The kidneys become affected, and the bladder and stomach, then comes indigestion, pains and cramps after eating, kidney affection, which frequently causes backache, especially after arising in the morning, and other ills too numerous to mention. At the first sign of catarrh such as offensive breath, scabs forming in the nose, contracting colds easily, heavy, dull feeling in front of head, weakening of the eyesight, hearing becoming affected, sense of smell at taste impaired, you should do something to check its course.

One of the most rational treatments is World's Tonic, the new systemic treatment that is intended to help act directly upon the mucous membranes. First aid should come through the stomach, causing good digestion, and when this is accomplished, good influence is sent to every part of the body. Get a bottle today.

AROUND CITY HALL

It is a safe bet that were one to page the businessmen of the Washington street section they would find that each of them would give L. B. Round, CWA administrator, a vote of thanks for his having put the CWA employees to work cleaning away the snow. It not only went far toward eliminating flood fears, but also helped business. And it also resulted in about 60 men receiving employment. The city paid for the trucks.

City officials and employees were given negotiable paper for 30 per cent of their wages during November and December. The paper drew interest. The 30 per cent amounted to about $11,000, according to Director of Finance Hoyland. He said today that approximately $8,000 has been paid off and he is anxious for the persons who have the remaining several thousand dollars in paper to present it for payment, as the city treasury can now pay off in cash, he stated.

TRIPLE SLAYING OCCURS IN OIL CITY FAMILY

Children Slain; Father Suicides

Believe Tragedy Due To Despondency Over Long Unemployment

DAUGHTER AND SON STABBED TO DEATH

(International News Service)

OIL CITY, Pa., Mar. 7.—Three members of one family, a 53-year-old father, his 19-year-old daughter, and 15-year-old son, lay dead today. All died at the hands of the parent who friends claim was despondent because of a long siege of unemployment.

After stabbing his daughter, Mildred, and son, Paul, to death with a hunting knife, A. G. Anderson ended his life with a double-barrel shotgun. He used a fishing pole to discharge the gun.

Discovers Tragedy.

Another son, Harry, 23, discovered the tragedy when he returned home from work. Loud blasts came from the radio while a piece of meat boiled on a stove.

Slumped beside a pile of potatoes was his sister's body while the lifeless form of his younger brother lay beneath a table. The elder Anderson's body was found in the family garage. Dr. J. R. Sharp, deputy coroner, reported the case a double slaying and suicide.

Father Despondent.

No note was left to explain the tragedy but the perforated forms in the home and the parent's body containing a bullet wound told the gruesome story. Neighbors and friends said Anderson was despondent because of his failure to find work. Recently, however, he had been employed at the Oil Well Supply Company.

Anderson's wife died several years ago. A third son, Edward, resides in Pittsburgh.

De LILLO IS MEMBER OF NOTED ORCHESTRA

Walter DeLillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. DeLillo, of Laurel boulevard, is among the musicians in the National Symphony orchestra at Pittsburgh, Friday evening.

Recently the local young man was selected by Hans Kindler, one of the greatest musicians in the country, to play with the National Symphony orchestra, which ranks high.

Dillinger Guards To Face Charges

Two Arrested For Alleged Aid To Outlaw, Still At Large

CROWN POINT, Ind., Mar. 7.—Two of the guards who surrendered to John Dillinger's wooden gun were taken into custody today, but an intense hunt failed to produce the missing outlaw himself.

The guards, Deputy Ernest Blunk and Turnkey Sam Cahoon, were charged by Prosecutor Robert G. Esch with "aiding and abetting" Dillinger's fantastic escape.

Assistant Attorney General Edward Barce, investigating for the governor of Indiana, said the charge was based on the failure of the jailers to resist when Dillinger cornered all his guards into his own cell and drove off in the sheriff's sedan.

Barce said he had found "definite evidence of malfeasance." Cahoon was the first of Dillinger's victims, when the toy pistol gunner began his amazing roundup Saturday morning of the jail garrison. The turnkey opened the door of Dillinger's cell block, he admitted to the authorities later, without sending Dillinger and the other prisoners back into their cells.

At large in the corridor, Dillinger sprang on Cahoon and with the wooden pistol in Cahoon's ribs, ordered the turnkey to call Blunk.

Blunk, according to his statement to the investigators, then read the roll of jailers which Dillinger ordered. He called the next victim, Warden Lew Baker, who in answer to Blunk's call, sauntered down the long jail corridor, from the front of the cell block, and was clapped into a cell along with the others.

"Neither of the two gives any satisfactory explanation," said the assistant attorney general after the two had been taken into custody and lodged in their own jail.

"Apparently they put up no resistance whatsoever," said the assistant attorney general after the two had been taken into custody and lodged in their own jail.

"Blunk, at Dillinger's bidding, called four other guards so that Dillinger—still with his wooden gun—could take them prisoner. He called Warden Baker, then Deputy Kenneth Houk, then Deputy Marshall Huntley, and then Matt Brown."

Cold Weather Does Not Kill Troublesome Pests

HARRISBURG, March 7.—The "old fashioned" winter experienced in Pennsylvania during the past month or more has probably not seriously affected most insect life, according to entomologists in the bureau of plant industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Extreme cold weather when continuous, is not ordinarily disastrous to over-wintering stages of insects. The sudden extremes of temperature earlier in the season may have destroyed some types of insects and the same type of weather coming the latter part of March or the beginning of April, may also kill additional numbers, but it is fully anticipated that no great reduction in insect life will be noticed by farmers and gardeners next summer.

It is not expected that the Japanese beetle grubs will be greatly reduced in numbers this winter due to weather conditions, for there have been no changes sharp enough to cause the grubs to become active, followed by sudden extreme cold weather sufficient to destroy them. The ground being cold most of the winter has prevented any activity of the grubs.

The oriental fruit moth over-winters in cocoons and the experience of past years indicates that severity of the winter weather has practically no effect on them. The same applies to the codling moth.

Scale insects and other pests of ornamental plantings are not believed to have been harmed by weather conditions up to this time, even though much plant life in nurseries is reported as killed by the high winds.

Continuous cold weather is reported as very hard on bees, especially those which do not have ample stores of food upon which to keep up body and hive temperatures. Low temperatures prevent cleansing flights. This brings about dysentery, greatly reducing vitality.

Widen Scope Of Aviation Probe At Washington

Investigation Of Heavy Long And Short Sales In Aviation Stocks Is Heightened

MUST LIST ALL AVIATION SALES

By EUGENE J. CADOU
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—Investigation of heavy long and short sales in aviation stocks before air mail contracts were nullified assumed a nation-wide aspect today. Widening of the scope of the Senate banking committee's probe of the sales, which involved millions in profits, will make detection of any possible leaks easier, said Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel.

Originally the committee asked only for a report on air stocks sales from January 6 until February 9, on the New York stock exchange, as compiled during an inquiry by Richard Whitney, exchange president.

But today the Senate investigation had been broadened as follows:

1. Nineteen other exchanges over the country were asked to submit information concerning air stocks sales by their members. The exchanges were Hartford, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington, New Orleans, Buffalo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Columbus, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Detroit, Louisville, Seattle and Richmond.

2. The period of sales to be scanned was extended from December 1 until February 9.

The deadline for reports on sales of nine air stocks requested in another probe by the listing committee of the New York stock exchange was at noon today. Pecora said when he received a copy of this report he will begin at once to inquire behind the scenes.

National Guard Target Practise Worries Lima

(International News Service)

LIMA, O., Mar. 7.—With the city "jittery" over persistent reports that John Dillinger, escaped desperado, plans a foray here to free an alleged henchman from jail, Lima was thrown into a near panic today by a fusillade of machine-gun fire which proved to be merely target practice by the National guard.

Only a short while after Brig. Gen. Harold McBush had warned that "gangs are over-running the city of Lima." At least ten rounds of machine-gun fire shattered the early morning stillness.

Only Practicing

Downtown Lima was immediately beset by fears that Dillinger and his mob had invaded the city to rescue Harry Pierpont, alleged "trigger man" of the mid-west gang, who is on trial here charged with the slaying of Sheriff Jess L. Sarker last October 12.

The shooting was explained when National guardsmen, assigned here to aid in guarding Pierpont and two other alleged members of the Dillinger gang held for trial, revealed they had received a new machine-gun and were simply trying it out with target practice on the court house range at 1:30 a. m.

General Bush, assigned here by Governor White to supervise guarding of the three gangsters, declared in his denunciation of criminals that he "could not hope to maintain peace in the city unless these gangs are curbed."

The Mexican bean beetle lives through the winter in the inactive adult stage in hedge rows, dead weeds and grass and is not affected by cold. The Gipsy moth goes through the winter in the egg stage and the eggs are protected by perfect insulation so that no damage whatever is expected. Experiments have shown that the European corn borer, likewise, can stand almost any type of winter weather.

Insects which reach their northern range in Pennsylvania, may be reduced by the sub-zero weather. An insect which comes in this class is the corn ear worm which has been doing serious damage during past years in sweet corn patches. It is believed that the damage by this insect in the first sweet corn crop next summer may not be as great as in the past.

Scale insects and other pests of ornamental plantings are not believed to have been harmed by weather conditions up to this time, even though much plant life in nurseries is reported as killed by the high winds.

New Castle's postoffice employees, like their co-workers throughout the country, will be required to take a four-day payless furlough between now and June 30 as the result of Postmaster General James A. Farley's new order.

Acting Postmaster Richard A. Steen has received instructions concerning the payless holidays from the postoffice department in Washington.

The four-day furloughs must be taken by the employees between now and the end of the present fiscal year on June 30. Annual leaves for all employees will also be discontinued at once except in cases where the vacations can be granted without replacement or expense to the department.

COUNTED THE FRIENDS HE KNEW WOULD BE HELPED BY "VENDOL"

New Castle Man Says This New Medicine Did Him Worlds Of Good. Relieved His Stomach, Ended Pains In Limbs, Banished Constipation.

"Since taking a treatment of Vendol and the little laxative tablets, I have been feeling so much better that I was just counting over in my mind a few days ago the men and women in my acquaintance who would also be helped by taking Vendol, and I wish that I could call on each one of them and personally recommend this splendid medicine to them," said Mr. David Jayne who is employed on the farm of J. Scott Davison at Mahoningtown, Pa., near New Castle.

"I had stomach trouble so bad that after each meal my food would turn sour and cause disagreeable belching. It seemed that the very things I liked were the ones that always disagreed with me; so I had to quit eating boiled cabbage, meats and salmon. One night I had an attack of gas and it pressed so heavily against my heart that I thought I was gone."

"My liver was sluggish which brought on dizzy spells and headaches. There were aching pains in my legs, and my joints were so stiff that I seemed to have little use of my limbs and couldn't get up on a horse's back."

"Vendol has really worked wonders in my case and seemed to get my organs working as they should. It improved my digestion, corrected the constipation, aroused my liver so that I haven't had a dizzy spell lately, and relieved the pains in my back and limbs."

"I feel as supple as when I was a young man and can mount a horse as easily as when I was a boy. Vendol has done me a great deal of good, and the other day I met a woman crippled up with rheumatism and advised her to take some of it."

"I have a cousin who used to get so dizzy that he would fall over and couldn't ride a mowing machine. I am certainly going to see him about taking Vendol."

"I hope that many people reading what Vendol has done for me will give this splendid medicine a trial. If Vendol proved so good for this home town man, isn't it reasonable to believe it will also help you? Don't wait another day. Come to the New Castle Drug Company, 21 E. Washington St., ask for me, the Vendol Man, and let me explain how Vendol will relieve your troubles."

Shenango High Takes 38 To 17, but Shenango Came Along Fast in the Third Period to Outscore the Union 12 to 7, and again in the fourth and final period outscored Union 9 to 5.

POLENICK AND MORRISON STAR

Shenango High School basketball team upset the Union High basketball team last night at the Shenango High floor 38 to 17 in a game that was one of the best at the Shenango school gym this season. The Raneymen led by Ziegler and Polenick piled up an impressive victory. Union needed a victory to clinch the title but the Boydmen finished on the wrong end of the score.

Union led in the first period 9 to 7, and at the half were ahead 21 to 17, but Shenango came along fast in the third period to outscore the Union 12 to 7, and again in the fourth and final period outscored Union 9 to 5.

Polenick-Ziegler Good
It was too much Ziegler and Polenick for the Union team, this pair getting 26 of the Shenango points. The game was a hard fought clean affair with only one man Ziegler forced to leave the game on four personal fouls. In foul tossing the teams were about even with Shenango having 8 out of 13 and Union 9 out of 14. The Shenango High team has made life miserable for Union, East Brook, New Wilmington and Bessemer in the last few games, and had they hit their stride the first of the season might have had the title this year.

Paul "Blond" Morrison was the big star for the Union team with 11 points, while Boren had 10 points. White played a fine game for Union at guard, and so did Schaeas at center.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Arthur Mullen, Democratic national committeeman from Nebraska, who was floor leader of the Roosevelt forces in the Chicago convention, advised the president he was retiring from his post. He had hitherto resisted pressure exerted from the white house for his resignation.

Mullen conducts law offices here and in Omaha. He did not resign when several other national committeemen resigned because, he said, he did not believe the president's opposition to lobbying was directed at him.

Auto Workmen

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Mar. 7.—The threatened strike of automobile workers appeared to have been averted today—at least until after the national labor board hears complaints of workers next Wednesday.

Only the name of the president, himself, availed to keep Flint's 42,000 motor workers at their jobs today. Late yesterday afternoon their leaders were determined to strike. The tide was turned last night when James F. Dewey, mediator of the National Labor board, told 4,500 Buick employees: "Your president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself, has given positive assurances that the services and facilities of the government will be opened to you to guarantee that justice shall be done."

With a ringing cheer at these words, the workers voted to "give the government a chance" to mediate their differences with the employers.

More Criticism
Is Piled On NRA

Claim NRA Officials Have Not Acted To Protect American Industries
From Imports

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—A cross-fire of criticism swept the NRA today centering their guns on failure of the president and NRA officials to take advantage of section 3 of the recovery act providing for an embargo on foreign-made goods to protect industries operating under the code.

J. M. Wells of Newell, W. Va., member of the chinaware code authority, charged that holding this economic weapon in idleness had resulted in a shift of the chinaware business from the United States to Japan.

Imports of Japanese-made chinaware increased 69 percent in 1933 over the previous year, he said, while the American industry had failed to gain under the code, with the exception of seasonal jumps. As for President Roosevelt's "challenge" to industry to boost wages and reduce hours, Wells said:

"I don't see how the president or the NRA officials can believe that reduced hours and increased wages will solve our problem. Higher prices for domestic chinaware have caused the buyer to go to Japan for his supplies."

Authorizations for loans to 2,104 closed banks amounted to $684,875,000. A total of $235,875,000 of that amount has not been disbursed.

Should Prove Helpful.

When the money for stocks in active banks, representing working capital, and that to closed banks have been advanced additional funds will have been placed in the channels in trade and should prove helpful," Jones said.

Approximately $777,000,000 will be put into commercial use through the RFC in the next sixty days through open and closed banks.

Gigantic Relief Plans Progress

New Relief Program Starting April 1 Will Be Different From CWA

WORK DIVISIONS TO BE SET UP

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—Limits are off, under the new long-range unemployment relief program to begin April 1, it was disclosed Tuesday as Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, sped southward to start the rural phases of the plan in that area.

As distinct from the CWA which was held to 4,000,000 workers for a definite period, Hopkins ordered that "there will be no top for this thing we're starting after April 1."

Work will be given to one bread winner in each family, after need is established by investigation in each locality. Transfer of such persons to employment under the newly-organized, "work divisions" in each community will begin immediately, Hopkins directed.

While no definite numbers are calculated, Hopkins added that "at least 2,000,000 workers under the CWA were taken off various relief rolls at the beginning, and should receive some assurance that they will be provided for under the new arrangement."

He is relying on the broadness of the present plan, to absorb greater numbers, for longer periods, at organized work than was possible under the old procedure.

About three-fourths of the existing CWA projects are available for continuation of such employment, he estimated.
